To whom it may concern,

This letter is an endorsement for Mr Matthew Harrison and his business Secure Tours & Travel.

I have known Matt for many years and have also been involved in the development of his new business venture – Secure Tours & Travel.

Having held many senior roles in the Travel & Tourism Industry and recently running my own tourism business consultancy, I also assisted Matthew with the development of the concept and business plan for Secure Tours & Travel.

The business has been introduced to key tourism organisations such as Tourism Australia and the Australian Tourism Export Council. The business has participated in key trade expos to promote its unique services and product offering in the Australian and inbound tourism market.

Secure Tours & Travel is a niche tour operator offering travel packages and itineraries, planning, coordination and booking services, as well as delivery of ground arrangements in Australia with an overarching focus on luxury, high end experiences and a clear differentiation on safety and security.

This type of service offering is new to the Australian market and has good potential with high end travellers such as VIP groups, conference and event attendees, or leisure travellers who are safety and security focused.

I wish Matthew the very best with his business into the future.

Yours sincerely

Gary O'Riordan
